TIME FOR LAW-ABIDING PEOPLE TO ACT.

When a gambler and dice-keeper believes himself secure enough in his lawlessness to pursue one of his victims, he is in a bad way. The law is not a dead letter, but a living force.
The gambler who is not a law-abiding man, and with the aid of an officer of the law, tries to collect a gambling debt by strong-arm methods, it is time for decent people to take measures for their own protection.

The maintenance of a gambling house is in direct violation of the law.
But we might as well carry the matter a bit further and ask something about the "invisible government" by which the gambler is protected in Bernillo county.

Saturday afternoon we had the spectacle of two gamblers and dice-keepers, with a deputy sheriff, appearing in a business house for the collection of a gambling debt of $25 from a youthful employee who not only had spent all of his money at the gambling table but had given a check for $25 to cover additional losses.

The deputy sheriff, who had a warrant for the arrest of the boy on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, stated that he was there under orders from the court that issued the warrant for the collection of a gambling debt of $25 from the $25 and costs were paid.
The gambler said make the arrest, the officer was to make it, and if the gambler said not to make the arrest he was not to make it. When told that he was leaving himself quite exposed to criminal prosecution as the gambler, the deputy sheriff laughed to scorn the idea that any punishment could come to him, and, when payment was refused, on instruction from the gambler, he grabbed the boy by the arm, snatched him out of his seat and started with him to the lockup.

The gambler remained behind to argue about the alleged debt, but when he saw a man start from the office with the arrested intention of seizing out a warrant, he rushed down the street after the deputy sheriff and, two blocks away, overtook him and ordered him to release his prisoner, which was done promptly.

And it will work for the people of Albuquerque, the people of Bernillo county, the people of New Mexico, to inquire just how it comes that an officer of the law is at the beck and call of a gambler and dice-keeper?
How is it that warrants are issued for the enforcement of gambling debts? How is it that a man can be imprisoned, contrary to the constitution of both state and nation, for any kind of debt, to say nothing of a debt incurred in an unlawful game of chance in a house maintained in violation of the laws of the state?

Investigation of this sort of thing may well have to come at the time of the next grand jury. Should the grand jury find no violation of it, it might well command the attention of an investigating committee of the next state legislature. Lawbreakers at least, know that they are not outraged public sentiment and accused an investigation by the New York state legislature of exactly this sort of conduct under the rotten rule of Tammany in New York City.

The populations of King and Blackwell's islands were increased materially and the men caught, many of whom are serving terms in prisons today, were by no means all gamblers and dice-keepers.

In a town in Pennsylvania, automobiles are notified by a sign that the speed limit is ten miles an hour.
They are arrested for speeding because none of them has gone through the streets at more than ten miles an hour. They want to look around a bit.

RACE PREJUDICE AGAIN.

November 23, at the teachers meeting in Albuquerque, Felix Martinez, in his address on the evils of race prejudice, quoted the following words from President Wilson:

"There is another danger we should guard against. We should believe not only in the equality of race, but in the equality of color. Where there should be unity, but also every manifestation of religious and social antagonism."

Continuing, Mr. Martinez said:

"And should he allow himself to simplify and illustrate the knowledge in his possession in connection with these facts, we would all stand aghast, horrified at the picture he could draw of the racial struggle of this era in our very midst."

How well Mr. Martinez knew the situation was disclosed last Tuesday when the president, delivering his address to Congress, said:

"I am sorry to say that the greatest threats against our national peace and safety have been stirred within our own borders. There are elements of the United States I think to admit, both under the flag but separated under our common nationality, who have the full freedom and opportunity of America, who have poured the poison of racialism into the very arteries of our national life, who have sought to bring the authority and good name of our government into contempt, to destroy our industries wherever they thought it effective for their vindictive purposes to strike at them, and to drive out the best of our foreign industries."

But, as Mr. Martinez knows and as the president said later on in his address, "they are not many, but they are infinitely malignant." The vast majority of all those who live under the American flag are loyal to it and the things it stands for. Only a few are here as its enemies when its interests conflict with the interests of the country from which they sprang.

Race feeling, like religious prejudice, must be stamped out wherever found. There must be absolute harmony to the ideal upon which this government is founded and for which it is maintained. Prejudice by English-speaking people against Spanish-speaking people, against Spanish-speaking people against English-speaking people, is more reprehensible than prejudice of foreign-language people against the English-speaking.

The man whose native tongue is English is at home here. He is familiar with the laws, the customs, the business of the country. He has a great advantage over the man who must learn his environment through a different vehicle of thought from that in common use, therefore should take a friendly and kindly interest in the welfare of his less fortunate neighbor.

We are all descendants from a common fatherhood, we all pray to the same God, we all hope to gain admission to the same heaven, "after life's racial fever." Why can't we all be friends, racially and religiously, during the little span allowed us between the cradle and the grave?

DR. LUKENS' CHRISTIAN WORK.

The Journal is heartily in sympathy with the campaign undertaken by Dr. Lukens to find out where the crippled, children and the indigent widows of New Mexico live and add them to having a merry Christmas, also to make life easier and happier for them in the future.

The undertaking is one in which the right-thinking, right-feeling people of every community will join. It is the very heart of Christianity to help the needy and the distressed, to lighten the burdens they must bear, to make more pleasant the paths they must follow.

Such is the Christian work Dr.
Lukens has undertaken, and all of us must do our part in seeing that his work lacks nothing of our co-operation necessary in its success. As Emerson has well said: "Good for one trip only is stamped upon every human soul born into the world." We may be sure that we shall have an opportunity hereafter to do the things we leave undone while we are passing through life.

WORDS OF CAUTION.

The Frankfurter Zeitung, discussion of the request for the withdrawal of Captains Boy-Ed and von Papen, says:

"When Germany has recovered from the war she will undertake widest, well-ordered work of education in America as to the relative merits of German and British.
If necessary, the mailed fist will also be applied to American aberrations."
"Maudsley Germany" will show patience and consideration for certain weak sides of the American national character."

It was George Washington who said in one of his inaugural addresses:

"There is a rank due to the United States among nations which will be withheld, if not absolutely lost, by the reputation of weakness. If we desire to avoid insult, we must be able to level it. If we desire to secure peace, we must be able to defend ourselves. One of the most powerful instruments of our rising prosperity, it must be known that we are at all times ready for war."

Also, in discussing the handicaps of the revolutionary war, Washington said:

"Had we formed a permanent army at the beginning, which by the consequence of the same army in service, had been capable of discipline, we should have been the greatest power of the world. We have been the greatest part of the war inferior to the enemy, enduring frequently the mortification of seeking helping opportunities, pass, unmoved, at the sight of a force which the country was completely able to afford and of seeing the country ravaged, our towns burned, the inhabitants plundered, abused, murdered, with impunity."

Shall we ever learn any lesson in this country without first having been punished for neglecting it?

less than fifty miles an hour. The number of the car, unless there was mistake owing to the gathering twilight, was 1125. Possibly it was not that number.

The earlier you mail Christmas packages the more likely they are to reach their destination on time and in good condition.

A Philadelphia doctor says the people of that city die too early, but no one blames them for getting away as soon as possible.

The farther the Ford ship gets toward Norway the less nervous will be heard from its emotional passengers.

The Dardanelles and the Panama canal are still temporarily out of use.

If you do your Christmas shopping early, it should be commenced today.

SAMSAHA AND NIRVANA.

The "Gospel of Buddha" is a notable original scholar, Dr. Paul Caron, has presented in plain shape, for readers of English, a biography of Samsaha (Samsara), embodying the character and the teachings of that extraordinary religious leader. It is conceded and less remembered than Edwin Arnold's "Light of Asia." Sam-saha, explains the gloomy, signifies "The ocean of birth and death, transiency, worldliness, the restlessness of a worldly life, the illusion of selfhood, the vanity, the fear of life." "Nirvana" means the extinction of self, the attainment of truth. Buddha himself refused to decide the problem whether or not Nirvana is a final extinction of personality.

Look about you and contemplate life.

Everything is transient and nothing endures. There is birth and death, growth and decay, there is combination and separation.

The glory of the world is like a flower, it is full blown in the morning and fades in the heat of the day.

Wherever you look there is a rushing and pushing, an eager pursuit of pleasure, a vain search for happiness and death, and the pain of burning desires. The world is full of changes and transformations. All is Samsaha.

In there nothing permanent? Is there in the universal turmoil, no resting place where the troubled heart can find peace? Is there nothing everlasting?

Is there no cessation of anxiety?
Can the burning desires not be extinguished? When shall the mind be tranquil and contented?

Buddha, our lord, was grieved at the life of life. He saw the vanity of worldly happiness, and sought salvation in the one thing that will not fade or perish, but will abide forever and ever.

Ye who long for life, know that immortality is hidden in transcendence.
Ye who wish for happiness without the sting of regret, lead a life of discontentment. Ye who yearn for riches, realize treasures that are eternal. Truth is wealth, and a life of truth is happiness.

All compounds will be dissolved again, but the virtues which determine the worth of a man will survive as laws of nature endure forever.
Bodies fall into dust, but the truth which inhabits the body and guides it will not be destroyed.

Truth knows neither birth nor death, it has no beginning and no end.
The truth is the immortal part of mind.

Ye attain to immortality by following the path of truth. Therefore, do not let the mind be so vexed by the shadows of the Master's words, cleanse yourselves of sin and sanctify your lives.

Learn to distinguish between self and truth. Self is the cause of self-destruction, and the source of all pain, clay to be cast away, it is universal and leads to justice and righteousness.
Seek not self but seek the truth.

He who seeks self must learn to distinguish between the false self and the true self. His ego and all his egoisms are the false self. They are an-real illusions and perishable conditions. He only who identifies his self with the truth will attain Nirvana, and he who has entered Nirvana has attained Buddhahood—he has achieved the highest bliss, he has become that which is eternal and immortal.

The extinction of self is salvation, the annihilation of self is the condition of enlightenment. The blotting out of self is Nirvana.

Let us take our refuge in Buddha, for he has found the everlasting. In the transient.

The things of the world and its inhabitants are subject to change, they are impermanent, they are not self, they are not the truth. They are the things of the world, they are the things of the world, they are the things of the world, they are the things of the world, they are the things of the world,
